

In Pictures: Trends That VCs Want To Fund

Deborah Farrington (No. 44)

StarVest Partners

HOT: We'll see more businesses marketing on social networks. We'll also see more investments outside Silicon Valley and Boston. Google will continue to compete with venture capitalists by funding Google-centric applications.

NOT: She's staying away from me-too social networks for individuals. There are also already enough VC-backed solar battery companies. Clean tech is overheated with too much investment.